Excellent for my eczema

I suffer from eczema and read about the qualities of aleppo soap,so thought I'd try it. After a week of using it, I can safely say my patches of eczema are clearing up and no longer itchy. In fact, my whole body is now devoid of itches. I've also used the soap as a shampoo and that has given my usually very soft hair quite a bit of body.

Aleppo 70% laurel soap

This is a lovely made soap, with it's 70% laurel content, left my dry skin feeling nourish and supple. I was a bit unsure as to wether this soap would irritate my dry skin because of not knowing much about laurel, but quite the opposite it left my skin feeling smooth and moisturised. So glad I purchased it.

Great quality soap that's gentle on skin.

A great quality soap that's a pleasure to use. Gentle on skin and rinses off well, with little need for moisturiser which is a bonus. I've even washed my hair with it and it looks fuller, so I'm sticking with it. Makes you wonder what people relied on before shampoos/conditioners became a "thing". My elderly mother also loves it, as her skin no longer itches and a little goes a long way. A huge thanks to the seller for a speedy delivery and for packing items well. I look forward to ordering more from you.

An excellent soap

An excellent soap, I suffer from dry skin and since using Aleppo soap, my skin is noticeably softer without the need for moisturising cream. Also a great service

Perfection Soap is Aleppo Soap.

Aleppo Soap is the perfect soap for me. I tend to have a dry skin but with this soap it keeps it mostly under control. I also wash my hair with it as well. It appears to prevent an itchy scalp as well. Service excellent as well. The soap was beautifully wrapped too. I will be purchasing some more in due course.

Great product, I tried the 70% but the 50% is best for me. It's not a miracle cure nor does it purport to be, but with my usual meds it's helped my psoriasis a lot. Might work for others might not but it's worth a try.

I use it as a soap and a shampoo and the bars last for ages.

So a good price, great product and speedy service. Try it

I really love the product! There was no irritation and my face feels super clean and smooth after every use. I am just super happy to find something that works for my face as I have been struggling with other products that irritates my face. I am so happy to have come across this product, my face is finally on the road to full recovery of fresh smooth face.

I really love this soap. The main benefit to me is that it doesn't make me itch. I always use soap in the shower and a bar lasts ages. I can't see myself buying any other brands in the future. My daughter has extremely reactive skin and it works for her too.

As someone with eczema and generally sensitive skin, Aleppo soap with laurel oil is the only bar of soap that my skin reacts really well to (body & face).

I discovered this soap in a market in Bath after being diagnosed with eczema as an adult. This company however have a better range of percentages of laurel oil and are far better priced than any of the others I have used previously. The soap is promptly despatched, well packaged and individually wrapped. Communication is brief, polite and certainly not excessive and I highly recommend this company.
